This is a excellent report, which will be give a big impact to public health in this pandemic COVID-19. We have to understand about the campground reservations, the authors explained clearly and based on evidence in the study field. The title reflect the main results and the abstract very structured well. The authors should explain about the methods more structured and clear, so the reader can understand about structured methods. Results and discussion were very understandable based on the evidence also about the weakness. The conclusions also stated the main results. The references is very update and relevance.
