I appreciate you giving me the opportunity to read this intelligent piece.

- There is a lack of specificity in identifying the research gaps that were filled by the study, while the case study of RPA deployment in auditing electronic invoices is presented successfully. To better grasp the research's distinctive contributions, it is necessary to identify these gaps.
- The manuscript's major flaw is the absence of sufficient references; all citations should be within the last five years.
- The goals of the study are not stated directly but are rather suggested. Having a well-defined set of goals for the study might serve as a guide when doing the research.

Best wishes
