The topic of the paper is very interesting for oil and gas industry. However, the way how is written the paper looks more a chapter of a book than a paper itself. For example, a paper paper should not have a table of contents, the figures are old and with low quality. Other important issue is that the document is very extensive and loses focus while the topic is developing. The nomenclature is not complete.

There are some thecnical issues to review. EOR does not includes water injection. The definition of Pool.

I recommend to publish this paper considering relevant corrections.
