Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

- The abstract is lacking the element of introduction and concluding remarks.
- The introduction needs to be elaborated more.
- There is no background study or literature review element in this paper.
- There is citation of reference in this paper.
- The method of the study section needs to be rewritten because the current one looks like writing a procedure for a lab sheet.
- The table of the results can better be represented in a graph format instead of using the table format. The results section is too long and needs to be rewritten as well.
