

Review of: "Learning Behaviors and Academic Performance: A Comparative Study"

Denis Forte¹

¹ Universidade Presbiteriana Mackenzie

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Congratulations on this extensive work of research. Very useful in linking personal characteristics in terms of learning with academic performance. A very productive explorative study with diverse people, in terms of demographic characteristics. The only thing that would be desirable would be the step after the analytical link, meaning that not only the characteristics should be observed and measured, but if there is any possibility in terms of improving performance by pedagogical tools or interventions.