

Review of: "Factors Influencing the Intention to Choose Transportation Applications in Bangkok, Thailand"

Rahayu Ahmad

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

In sum, the authors examined factors influencing transportation applications. Below some feedback to consider for improving the paper.

ABSTRACT

In abstract authors just mentioned generally the findings will aid in deeper understanding of a deeper understanding of user behavior and preferences within the realm of modern mobility solutions. Possible can be more specific in what ways?

Literature review

Please include some related word about transportation choices that have been done and summarize the key factors found to be significant.

Hyphotheses Development

Please make a better description from where the constructs originate. Perceived ease of use and perceived usefulness are from TAM, but what about perceived efficiency and system availability ? From which theories these constructs were adopted?

Methodology

Reasonable and adequate sample size. Should include a brief discussion about the items examples and sources and will be appreciated by the readers. Also a brief distribution of participants” demographic can help to contextualize the study better. Moderate effect of variance explained.

Discussion

The discussion mainly focus on perceived ease of use, can include discussions of other factors that are found to be significant. Elaborate how perceived efficiency, and system availability influence in he context of transportation applications