

Review of: "Implementation of e-learning during COVID-19"

Mohd Izani Othman¹

¹ Universiti Teknologi Mara

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This topic is of interest especially during COVID-19 pandemic.

However, these are my comments:

Messy Writing: The writing in the document is described as messy - the text lacks clarity, organization, and coherence. It's important to address this issue by improving sentence structure, paragraph organization, and overall flow.

Lack of References in Introduction and Discussion: The introduction and discussion sections should include references to support the statements made. It's important to provide evidence and acknowledge the existing literature on the topic.

Ensure that relevant sources are cited appropriately and consistently throughout the text.

Vague Methodology Section: The methodology section should provide clear and detailed information about the research methods used in the study. It should explain the study design, data collection procedures, and any relevant statistical analyses performed. Make sure to revise this section to provide a more precise and comprehensive description of the methodology.

Incomplete Discussion: The author mentioned that there were 21 questions in the study, it is expected that the discussion section would address more than just two of these questions. To improve the discussion section, ensure that all relevant questions or findings from the study are addressed and analyzed thoroughly.

Mismatch between References List and In-Text Citations: Make sure that all references cited in the references list are also cited appropriately within the text. Review the in-text citations and ensure they are correctly formatted and match the references listed at the end of the document.