The article is of research interest and deals with a serious issue that needs to be explored, such as violence in schools and how teachers can help to eliminate it. The research problem is specific and based on research data.

However, the paper has several weaknesses in its structure. It has a very extensive literature review and the research part is incomplete. While the abstract mentions the methodology and the procedure very briefly in the main part of the paper these are not mentioned anywhere. There needs to be a specific section with the methodological framework, research objective, research questions, research tool and procedure. There needs to be a specific section on the thematic analysis and the coding that was done.

Also in the discussion the section on the research question needs to be placed as conclusions.

In conclusion, this is a good research paper which with the suggested corrections can be published.
