

Review of: "Effective use of Waste Materials: A Case Study of Utilization of Fly Ash in Flexible Pavement Structures"

Z. Bayer Ozturk Bayer Ozturk¹

¹ Nevsehir Haci Bektas Veli University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The related study explores the increasing utilization of fly ash as a construction material to address the environmental and economic challenges associated with its disposal as a by-product of thermal energy generation. Specifically focusing on its usage in pavement construction, the review highlights its common application in both flexible and rigid pavements, with a focus on flexible pavement layers. The differences in studies from the literature have been detailed.

However, before accepting for publication, the following comments should be paid attention to in the attachment.