The research covers an interesting subject, but it needs some improvements:

- a. The results of the work provided should be contrasted with those of other similar studies in the discussion section in order to identify the work's limits and accomplishments.
- b. The research's explanation of the results is unclear. They ought to be made more obvious.
- c. At the conclusion of the literature review, try to summarize the related work, and give a table with a comparative study of related works.
- d. avoid repeating the word "weak" several times in the research.
- e. A few grammatical mistakes should be fixed.
