Its a good idea and attempt, however there are several shortcomings

1. The authors should substantiate their claims with data across the paper - for eg "They were all facing a decline in terms of sales as the impact of the uncertainties during COVID-19".
2. Sentences seem to be incomplete or need to be improved in terms of grammar - eg "and how we could improve further for the next onward."
3. The words "COVID-19 epidemic" have been used however COVID was very much a pandemic.
4. A clear Methodology needs to be mentioned
5. Results/Findings and Discussion section seem to be missing. Also the important managerial, economic and social implications that are derived from the findings need to be written.
