Thank you I enjoyed reading this article, I think it can make a significant contribution. However, consider the following recommendations:

- For consistency, please stick to one term for Blended learning approach (Keywords and the rest of the article)
- It would be interesting to explore what other developing countries are doing or implementing. To compare it to countries with similar conditions than Tanzania can give a better understanding of the current situation and can be more practical perhaps? To know what the challenges are to learn from and improve upon?
- Frog Virtual Learning environment was mentioned in the introduction, would have appreciated a short explanation of this term for clarity?
- Research Question 2 / Table 3 - Wondering why only the students were assessed on the school learning environments? I think the teachers' voice is missing here as they will have they will be more informed?
- Table 6 - Who were the respondents here? Teachers/students? To explore the availability of several appliances for possible implementation?
- In the conclusion, please discuss the results again in detail and how the research questions were addressed.
- Also, remember to report on any limitations of the study and possible future recommendations for future researchers.
