

Review of: "Generic Competences in University Students from Barranquilla, Colombia"

Yi Huang Shih

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Title:

Generic Competences in University Students from Barranquilla, Colombia

The reviewer's comments

The subject matter of this theme is good and well worth pursuing. This manuscript is well written, and a worthy contribution to the investigation of the generic competences in University students from Barranquilla, Colombia. However, the reviewer would like to see some revisions made to your manuscript.

1. Recommend the authors to think what new insight is your study offering to readers?
2. Please strengthen the theoretical perspective to explain the association and build arguments in your study.
3. In the section of the method and results, I suggest the author employed appropriate statistical analysis to analyze the findings.
4. In the section of the discussion, I suggest the author should provide more theoretical literatures to dialogue with the results.
5. Please strengthen the conclusion and implications. Good finding suggestions for future practitioners and researchers.
6. This study is interesting and innovative. Review again after major revision.