

Review of: "Enhancing Veterinary Services for Smallholder Farmers in Zimbabwe: A Comprehensive Literature Review"

Tormod Ådnøy¹

¹ Norwegian University of Life Sciences

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper describes current and previous availability of veterinary services in Zimbabwe, based on published literature and probably own experience. More collaboration between veterinarians and paravets etc is recommended to also address the needs of small farmers in need of veterinary services.

The paper is thorough and seems reasonably balanced. Proposed changes in the existing system might be possible.

T