

Review of: "Analytical Study and Amelioration of Plastic Pavement Material Quality"

Guojun Cheng

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The authors aim to analyze and ameliorate plastic pavement qualities in order to redefine the quality of existing plastic pavement in Cameroon, and obtain some basic data; the paper has certain application significance. However, the range of parameters used in the study is narrow, and hence it contributes very little to the readers. As in its current status, this manuscript requires substantial modification to be considered for publication. Specific comments for the authors to consider are as follows:

1. The authors need to provide comparative data from friction experiments;
2. Lack of material ductility comparison experimental data; please add.