A good attempt to calculate the Altman A-Score is made. However, the paper has the following drawbacks:

1. The Introduction section is too small, and it has not explained the need for the study.
2. The Literature Review covers very few studies on the given topic.
3. The Objectives of the study are not mentioned completely. The authors should frame multiple objectives to be studied.
4. The Implications of the study are missing.
5. The limitations of the study are not mentioned.
