Sensory Hair

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. Sensory Hair. NCI Thesaurus. Code C33531.

A specialized hair cell, located in the organ of corti, and existing in two forms: the outer hair cells, which serve to mechanically amplify incoming sounds, and inner hair cells, which function to convert vibrations into electrical stimuli for transmission to the cochlear nerve.