Review of: "Quantile regression for identifying latent structures in COVID-19 pandemic – Examples from Nepal"

Metin Toprak[1]

1 İstanbul University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

It's an interesting topic and has a high potential for citation. The abstract should be reviewed in terms of its main components and should include findings and recommendations.An abstract should include the subject, problem, method, data, findings, evaluation and policy recommendations as in a standard abstract. The article can be given much shorter. Methods, findings, evaluations and suggestions should be given concisely both in the text and in the conclusion.