

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Behaviour genetics

David F Marks

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

A field in which variation among individuals is separated into genetic versus environmental components. The most common research methodologies are family studies, twin studies, adoption studies and genome-wide association studies.