

Review of: "How Competent are Health Professionals in Delivering Nutrition Education? A Cross-Sectional Study in Ebonyi State, Nigeria"

Jyoti Sharma

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

thanks for opportunity to review this article. the study was conducted on an interesting and important issue of competencies of health care providers on nutrition. Large sample size and different levels of health care providers were covered. However, few questions for authors -

1. introduction should include few lines on what is the system of nutrition education for health professionals in the country?
2. Methods section lacks description of process of data collection, how respondents were selected? how they were contacted?
3. which departments were included in the study?
4. the tool did not give details of domains of nutrition knowledge tested ? was it standardized tool? if adopted what changes were made in original tool?
5. what was the basis of scoring criteria?
6. how practices were measured?
7. what are the policy implications of the study?