

Review of: "A New Record of Henckelia Infundibuliformis for India From Arunachal Pradesh"

Aziz Purwantoro<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Universitas Gadjah Mada

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

As a new record of flora for India from Arunachal Pradesh, it will be great information. However, the description has no complete comparison with other Henckelia species, which are also found in other parts of India. The differences between the new Henckelia and the others would be more comprehensive if presented in a table with both qualitative and quantitative data. The morphology characters of the plant should be written as a description of the plant, for example, the petals' color, style and anther color, flower type, etc.