

Review of: "Quantile regression for identifying latent structures in COVID-19 pandemic – Examples from Nepal"

Victoria Mogni¹

¹ Universidad de la República de Uruguay

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Interesting article, well organized. I suggest further development of the methodology, for example, justifying the benefits of using quantile values and quantile regression over other statistical tools. It is also necessary to explain the reasons why it is a contribution to compare such dissimilar countries.