Dear Dr. Bedogni,

I reviewed this article with great pleasure, the topic is relevant, the methodology is original.

However, I suggest some revisions.

First, the inclusion and exclusion criteria are not clear and should be explicated. It's not clear whether seronegative students with a reported personal or household history of a SARS-CoV-2 infection were included in the study. I think inclusion and exclusion criteria should be enounced clearly.

Concerning statistical analysis, the Spearman-rho bivariate correlations were used even with qualitative variables (table 3). I think that statistical analysis should be revised.
