Thank you for the opportunity to review this paper. The paper provides insight into an important aspect of health care provision.

Abstract: Your abstract is very informative.

Introduction: Please add a reference:

The perpetuation of good health through prompt dietary behaviour cannot be overemphasised. However, there have been dramatic changes in diet and lifestyle taking place in developing countries because of globalisation and their impact on the health of the population (Reference).

Competency can be grouped into three: a Knowledge component; a Know-how component describing personal experiences and working conditions, which is also the practical knowledge that includes how to get things done; and a component describing the act that drives performance (Reference).

Methodology:

Could you please state the inclusion and exclusion criteria?

Results:

Please could you clarify the education level "postgraduate"? Is it a postgraduate diploma or a postgraduate degree? And change position if need be.

Discussion: Well written.

Conclusion: Good.
