Dear authors,

Thank you for your effort and contribution related to the research on student satisfaction. The problem has been explained very precisely and clearly, and the results have been provided.

Below are some suggestions for improving the paper:

- 1) The literature review needs to be supplemented with additional extracts that will further indicate the research hypotheses and connect the study's purpose with specific research objectives.
- 2) It is necessary to further explain the method of measuring student satisfaction and performance.
- 3) To make the paper appear more academic and less like a presentation of results, it's necessary to add academic insights.
- 4) Consider incorporating the factor of the academic year to see if there are differences in satisfaction among different years of study.
- 5) Further investigate which indicators have the most influence on high academic grades.
- 6) The discussion is fine. The conclusion should be written to address each research objective. Also, add a section about the limitations of the research.
- 7) As a suggestion for future research, consider conducting a factor analysis to identify factors that can be used in further analysis.
