

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Intravascular Papillary Endothelial Hyperplasia

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. Intravascular Papillary Endothelial Hyperplasia. NCI Thesaurus. Code C4391.

A reactive, well-circumscribed vascular lesion. It is characterized by the formation of thin papillae projecting within the lumen of blood vessels. The papillae are lined by plump endothelial cells. Blood clots are also present.