According to my opinion, the manuscript is well-written and has merits for publication in the Journal. I therefore recommend publication of this work after some minor revisions based on the following:

- 1) Authors must explain deficiencies or shortcomings of other studies to make a bridge to introducing the novelty of their work.
- 2) Authors are encouraged to indicate again the main practical applications of this work.
- 3) For general readers, authors are encouraged to discuss other kind of works such as:
