Thank you for the opportunity to review this platform.

When I examine the study, I have doubts about its scientificness. There is no validity and reliability data for the assessment tool used, but scoring data are available. If the interview was held, how was the analysis of the qualitative data done, how were the questions determined? The manuscript was written in a haphazard manner, with very few references to the available literature.

I don't think it's publishable as it is.

Kind regards.
