Congratulations on your manuscript,

Alcohol consumption among adolescents is a major social problem.

The article is very complete and very well written. The quality in general is good, the content and structure are clear and concise. It would still need small improvements.

- Perhaps the title is not very appropriate for the study. Mainly, nothing about the religions is named in it.
- I would recommend defining the socio-ecological model at the beginning of the writing.
- I would review the text and eliminate repeated phrases, among them the objective.
- A review of the bibliography used. Maybe they should look for more current articles.
- The use of statistical tests, such as the Lagrange multiplier, to calculate the difference between different religions.

I wish you much success with your publication.
