Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

There is no doubt that the topic is very important, especially due to the growing interest in the climate change issue. Besides, it is really interesting how the researchers handled the role of visual arts in this issue.

The researchers need to cite more references to support and prove their scientific point of view.

It is preferable for the researchers to follow the recognized article structure of scientific journals "Abstract, Keywords, Introduction, Materials and Methods, Discussion, and Conclusions".
