The concept of the paper is beneficial in various aspects and helps users to identify false information on different platforms. However, there are the following improvements you may consider:

1. Related work does not include the difference between your work and the other approaches.
2. The methodology is explained well. However, your algorithm or the steps involved are not clearly defined.
3. In the experiments, you have not mentioned any baseline approach.
4. You have precisely concluded your work but do not mention any future work or limitations in your work.
