Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I think this is a good idea, but in this article you need to delve into the following issues:

1. Clarifying theoretical issues about technology 5.0 and its effects on reading habits.
2. Clarifying the concept of reading habits, I think that when researching on this issue, it is necessary to study in a synchronous manner: reading knowledge, reading skills and reading attitudes. Of these three factors, reading habits mean the reader's attitude.
3. It is necessary to clarify the research data: in my opinion, the research needs to use primary data, and it is necessary to clarify the collection method, the respondents and express it through charts and figures.
4. In addition to identifying problems with reading habits, the research also needs to analyze and clarify the institutions that serve children's reading, the data and the operation of these institutions in the country. your.
5. Impact solutions, in my opinion, need to have policy implications, because the problem of reading habits is a national issue. Therefore, it is necessary to make proposals to competent state agencies or social organizations

I need the article to clarify the above content, before going into the specific details.
