

Review of: "[Commentary] Commentary on Sociocultural Beliefs and Systems Restricting Women's Access to their Marital Property Rights in Pakistan"

Sarosh Iqbal¹

¹ University of Management and Technology

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This is an interesting topic regarding women's marital property rights in Pakistan, significantly contributing to the existing body of knowledge. I would suggest to include the Islamic perspective, where women legal rights were already recognized. Also I will suggest to highlight the institutional negligence in enforcement of the constitutional laws, restricting women to access their rights.