

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Undifferentiated embryonal sarcoma of the liver

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base.

Undifferentiated embryonal sarcoma of the liver. ORPHA:178315

Embryonal sarcoma of the liver is a rare primary malignant hepatic neoplasm of childhood of mesenchymal origin. It can rarely occur in adults. It is characterized by abdominal mass, right upper quadrant or epigastric pain, nausea, anorexia, intermittent fever or headache.