The research can be geared into a more significance in terms of contribution to the body of knowledge. This would be a preliminary data to show the problem/as a background study that will lead to maybe an introduction to the solution to the problem.

Additionally, more literatures and explanation of the methodology are needed such as the climatic data for the site, reason for choosing the particular building, reason for choosing the particular hours.

Lastly, ventilation topic should be excluded from the writings unless the experiment involves it.
