

Review of: "Longevity of Electric Vehicle Operations"

Mario Grosso¹

¹ Polytechnic Institute of Milan

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper offers a well-written and pleasant description of the opportunities related to the diffusion of EVs, but it does not add anything new for readers already familiar with the topic. In particular the expectations delivered by the title about “longevity” are hardly met in the paper. In my view this can be a good informative article, but definitely not a scientific one.