The commentary is on multidimensional marginalisation in poor communities in India. Following are the observations that might help improve the study:

The first citation should be "United Nations, 2017", I suppose. The citation: "(ISSC et al., 2016)" and "(NITI Aayog, 2021)", should come before the full stop. Also, the abbreviation should be in full meaning at the first usage, and only the surname of the Authors should be retained while citing.

The methodology needs to be addressed again, the research design, sampling technique, analysis all need to be clearly explained. The rationale for using each technique should also be provided. The "complexity" of the findings should be solidly revealed. This endeavor will substantiate the study, augment its depth, and advance the frontiers of multidimensional poverty scholarship.
