The article is a very valuable study regarding the topicality, importance, and seriousness of the subject.

I congratulate the authors for their meticulousness in writing the article. I think the article has been put together nicely, considering everything and the method.

My suggestion to the authors is to explain the importance of the subject by using international data in the introduction section. And if they are going to focus on Kegel exercises, it is recommended that they talk more about them in the introduction.

There is no doubt that the article will contribute to the literature.

Good luck, congratulations.
