Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I appreciate the spirit of research carried out by the two authors Andrzej Brodziak and Danuta Abram. The title "Particular Sexual and Ambitious Attitude Threatens the Global Societal Functioning and Individual Wellbeing", opened my insights about the "world justice project" and facts in the field that are still far from expectations. I thank you for describing the problem of social and gender inequality in this world.

If I am asked to provide a review, in my view this title only describes the problem raised, and has not revealed a theoretical offer that can help overcome these problems. In this very limited discussion, too many problems are revealed so that the solutions offered are less focused and comprehensive for each problem.

For this reason, if I may give a suggestion, the authors can focus on just one problem and discuss the root causes of the problem, what its history was like, how the views of previous experts looked at the problem, and how the two authors analyzed and offered different solutions from the experts beforehand by disclosing conceptual findings that can be used as a reference in overcoming this problem (as a theoretical novelty in your paper), complemented by facts from research results through observation and interviews that will strengthen the basic arguments that you have made in this informative paper (as a practical novelty in your papers).

With the author's background, what kind of persuasive educational model can overcome this problem? or because this theme is related to psychology, the author can offer about "religious moral maturity" for example or other models of adult human moral maturity, for example, which according to the author is relevant to addressing this problem. Religious moral maturity can be used as a way to criticize patriarchal culture or the authoritarian attitude of government, this is because people who are religiously mature will have the character of humbleness, moral consistency, comprehensiveness, and heuristic in every individual character as revealed by Wallport (1950), or other concepts that you think appropriate to address the problems you discuss in this paper.

Thank you for sharing very valuable information for me and I am very happy to see your critical analysis. Congratulations on the work that is responsive to contemporary social problems.

Best Regards,
