

Review of: "Mobile Phone Recycling and Stockpiling Behaviour in the UAE: A Gender and Age Study"

Pinghao Ye¹

¹ Wuhan Business University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The findings of this study offer valuable insights for stakeholders in the mobile phone industry, underscoring the need to consider demographic differences in attitudes towards recycling and stockpiling when designing Reverse Supply Chain Management (RSCM) systems.

This paper only describes the data briefly and lacks exploratory data analysis. It is suggested to strengthen the validation analysis of the model and get more meaningful conclusions.