

Review of: "Studying the Level of Livelihood Vulnerability and the Necessity of the Work Developing a Farmhouse Economic Economic Model to Adapt to Climate Change in the Coastal Area of Ben Tre"

Monika Makwana¹

¹ Tata Institute of Social Sciences

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The abstract should offer a succinct overview of the study's primary findings and conclusions, providing an overall snapshot of the research. It should not be integrated as the initial paragraph of the introduction. The introduction is insufficiently developed, lacking an explanation of the chosen community and the rationale behind selecting these specific three communities out of a total of 59. Moreover, there is a notable absence of information regarding the research methodology, including whether the approach is qualitative, quantitative, or a combination thereof, as well as details on the sampling technique employed. The results fail to adequately address climate-related impacts, and the overall number of references is insufficient.