

Review of: "In-Vitro Antibacterial Activity of some Ganoderma Species: A Review"

Monika Stojanova

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This review paper presents and summarizes some of the current scientific knowledge related to the antibacterial action of Ganoderma mushroom species. The author presents the most important data on this topic, the paper has a good structure, all academic rules are observed and therefore it is recommended to receive a positive review.