Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper was able to identify the barriers to accessing financial services by agribusiness. The authors should use statistics to back up their claims. For instance, what percentage of women in Uganda are in agribusiness? What percentage lack access to financial services, etc.? The paper did not identify the gap in the literature which the authors intend to fill.

The recommendation is too generic; there should be specific policy recommendations that will facilitate access to financial services by women in agribusiness.
