

Review of: "A Case Study of the Management Information System in the Coffee Industry in SW Ethiopia"

Janice Tieguhong Puatwoe

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

- The figure included in the article should have a source.
- Also bringing out a clear problem statement is required. The introduction/statement of the problem is general which makes it difficult to understand/determine why the research is being carried out.
- The article consists of a literature review without the methodology, presentation and discussion of the results obtained being included.
- To improve the structure of the article, it is important for the author to review how a research article is structured.