

Review of: "Unravelling the Phytochemical and Pharmacognosy Contour of Traditional Medicinal Plant: Pterocarpus Marsupium Roxb"

Subramani Parasuraman¹

¹ Aimst University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The manuscript needs to be prepared as per the journal author instructions. The review is discussing about the medicinal importance of the Pterocarpus Marsupium plant. In each activity which part of the plant (such as stem, leaves or fruits) is used for the investigation can be added. Most of the referred works are preclinical studies. Any clinical indications (if available) can be added. Also, in introduction the importance of plant in traditional practices or folk medicine use can be added with appropriate citations.