

Review of: "Paulian Approach to Critical Thinking: Assessing an Intervention Program"

Tzu-Hua Huang¹

¹ University of Taipei

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1. The experiment, overall, was quite interesting and had some benefits for the professional training of aspiring teachers.
2. It is recommended to provide additional explanations about the research tools and their reliability and validity to enhance the persuasiveness of this study.
3. It is suggested that the research analysis methods could be more rigorous, incorporating further investigation through techniques like correlation analysis, among others.