The title is so interesting, and it's a need of the hour in SME development. The researcher has made a well academic effort on this title. However, the author may find the following modifications to be done to fine-tune this research to a further extent.

1. In the introduction part, specify the research interest of the study very clearly.
2. Find the research gap and define the problem statement.
3. This study has a currency of literature; however, give some latest studies like 2023, 2022.
4. In the methodology part, give the measures of the variables concerned.
5. The discussion part should be further validated with others' findings.
6. Recommendations seem to be too general; be specific in terms of variables used in the study. Also, give the practical implications of the findings.
