

Review of: "Between Avoidance and the Need to Learn: Emerging Dynamics in the First Weeks of Classes in Higher Education in Angola"

Aušra Kazlauskienė¹

¹ Vilnius University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article is very interesting and relevant. The authors have purposefully chosen research methods. Both data collection and data analysis methods are described clearly and reasonably. The latest sources, refined theories are used, on the basis of which conclusions are constructively formed. I propose to publish this interesting article with an unconventional approach.