

Review of: "Building Foods Data Automation Platform Using Cloud Computing Type PaaS"

Subramanian Kanimozhi Suguna

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Dear Authors,

I would like to suggest the following points for improvising the article.

1. In the article, you have directly gone into the explanation of your proposed work instead of specifying the need for the research in this domain. Additionally, the drawback in the existing system is missing.
2. What is the need for Food Automation? Who are the end users benefiting from the automation process?
3. The authors have specified certain configurations for implementing the data automation process using PaSS cloud computing. But, they have not specified how their model outperforms existing models or how it benefits the end user in building foods.
4. Also, the authors missed specifying how the technologies are suitable for the application or why they chose the specific configuration over other resources.

The authors tried to explain their implementation procedure in detail with the technologies they have utilized. However, some insight into basic points related to the research is missing.