Thank you for writing about this highly important topic!

Sadly, there are many mistakes in it, and the English isn't very convincing. Because of that, it is hard to follow the meaning of the whole paper and to find the red thread. As you are writing about AI, maybe you should use a suitable tool to check the English grammar (e.g., Grammarly).

The abstract is very detailed; I like that, but several points could be more connected.

The introduction lacks references.

Review of literature is very good and deep work!

I would suggest splitting "Results" and "Discussion" so that the reader clearly knows what is fact and what is interpretation.

In my opinion, there is no need to list all the different education models in detail - it does not make sense in this case...

Source from tables 1 and 2 belongs also in the references.

Conclusion is very short compared to the other sections.
